WELCOME!

Greetings friends,

It is my privilege to welcome you to our spring Season Concerts at the Hilbert Circle Theatre. We are excited to share our performance of Drop with you as we welcome spring and explore how water is one of the most powerful forces in the world.

I invite you to enjoy our 3:00 pm concert featuring our Beginning and Intermediate Level Choirs as they showcase songs about water. Today's concerts will feature two local guest artists – Michael Meurer and Lyndsay Moy, both of whom are ICC alumni. Our 7:00 pm concert will feature our most advanced choirs – Indy Voice and Master Chorale performing The Drop That Contained the Sea by Christopher Tin, a two-time Grammy Award winner whose body of work includes composing music for video games, orchestras, and choral groups.

Just one Drop of water contains the essence of the sea and inside every person is the essence of all humanity. Water means different things to different cultures, and The Drop That Contained the Sea is inspired by water in the many forms it takes. Each movement will tell the story of water – melting snow, mountain streams, rivers, the ocean, and then beginning again. As the song flows, so does the exploration of different world languages and cultures that revolves around water.

On behalf of the entire ICC family, thank you for joining us this concert season. We look forward to seeing you for the next 2022 – 2023 Concert Season performances in May!

Sincerely,

Joshua Pedde
Artistic Director

WELCOME

The Drop that Contained the Sea – Music by Christopher Tin

1. Water Prelude (COMBINED)

Sung in Proto-Indo-European – variations on the word “water”

2. Haktan Gelen Şerbeti – “The Drink from God” (MC)

Sung in Turkish – adapted from a poem by Yunus Emre

The drink sent down from Truth, we drank it, glory be to God.

And we sailed over the Ocean of Power, glory be to God.

We were dry, but we moistened. We became feet, we became the head.

We grew wings and became birds and flew, glory be to God.

Beyond those hills and oak woods, beyond those vineyards and gardens, we passed in health and joy, glory be to God.

To whatever lands we came, in whatever hearts, in all humanity, we planted the meanings Taptuk taught us, glory be to God.

We became a trickle that grew into a river. We took flight and dove into the sea, and then we overflowed, glory be to God.

Come here, let’s make peace, let’s not be strangers to one another.

We have saddled the horse and trained it, glory be to God.

3. Temen Oblak – “Dark Clouds” (IV)

Sung in Bulgarian – adapted from a poem by Hristo Botev

A cloud of darkness has appeared from the mountains and the forest.

Ah, granddad, these are troubled times! Hard the dragging of the plow.

Large raindrops have begun to fall, this is no gentle drizzle now.

A terrifying tempest howls – this is no gentle drizzle now.

Tell me, granddad - I remember how you once walked brave and proud.

Granny Stoyna was alive then – she was singing while you plowed.

*“Ah, my son, why you ask? Listen to the raven croak...
But when you go down to the village you’ll find out why the tears choke an aged chieftan, following his plow.
For the village gathers all around, in the square to graze upon my children, my young men.”
A cloud of darkness has appeared, does it mean a gentle drizzle?
Everyone through the village races, but granddad won’t unhitch the traces.*

4. Iza Ngomso – “Come Tomorrow” (MC)

Sung in Xhosa – adapted from “Keramos” by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

*The rain will return to the cloud, the clouds bring down the rain,
I will climb where over fields and pastures green
the painted ships float high in the air.
Like a bird I fly, I’m holding on to the wind,
I’m holding on by my wings.*

*Come tomorrow, the rain will clear,
may it be tomorrow. The day is coming.
I fly, I swim all over the lands.
I’m holding on to the wind over desert sands, over gulf and bay.*

*Like a bird I fly, like a bird I sing.
The clouds will clear. May it be tomorrow.*

5. Tsas Narand Uyarna – “The Heart of Snow” (MC)

Sung in Mongolian – adapted from ancient Mongolian texts

*The stars afar glimmer with might, the arrival of a traveler, a caravan is near.
I shall joyfully greet and bring forth freshly brewed tea.
The mountain sits at peace, adorned by a helmet of silver mist.*

*A snowstorm is the will of Time, the conqueror of all.
A pure heart beats at the core of each Mongol in this world where the sun and snow live in harmony.
The love in my heart flows abundantly.*

*Songs of peace thaw the heart of The Wheel of Earthly Samsara.
The heart of snow.*

6. Passou o Verão – “Summer Has Gone” (IV)

Sung in Portuguese – from Sonnet CLXXXVI by Luís de Camões

*When the turgid waters of the river flow by, they bring the muddied runoff from the mountains;
nearby the once flowering fields are parched and dry,
and the valley is cold and unproductive.
The spring and the heats of summer are gone.
The transition of things into other things continues.
But it seems as though the Fates have abandoned their usual schemes, forsaking this world to its mostly disordered condition.*

*Time has order, and it never breaks its rules,
but not this world, whose chaotic strife seems almost forgotten by God.
The uncertainty of customs, events, opinions, and nature makes it always seem as though this life is nothing more than what it seems to be.*

7. Devipravaha – “Goddess River” (IV)

Sung in Sanskrit – adapted from the Gangashtakam by Adi Shankara

*Drinking only water on your bank O Goddess, free from my worldly desires, I worship Krishna.
Destroyer of all our sins, who have become the staircase of heaven, with waves ever wavering, O Divine Ganga: be kind!*

8. Seirenes – “Sirens” (IV)

Sung in ancient Greek – from The Odyssey by Homer

*Come to us here, the Achaians’ renown, much honored Odysseus, drawing the ship right in, so that you to our voices may listen.
This is a place past which in his dark ship no one has ever driven,
before from our lips he has heard the melodious voices, but having taken delight he goes on greater in knowledge.
We know all of the things that the Argive troops and the Trojans there in the broad Troad by the gods’ wills labored and suffered;
we know all that is on the much-nourishing earth generated.*

9. Haf Gengr Hríðum – “The Storm-Driven Sea” (MC)

Sung in Old Norse – from the Poetic Edda

*The sea, storm-driven, seeks heaven itself, o’er the earth it flows, the air grows sterile; then follows the snows,
and the furious winds for the gods are doomed,
and the end is death.*

10. Waloyo Yamoni – “We Overcome the Wind” (COMBINED)

Sung in Lango – from a rainmaking litany

*We overcome this wind. We desire the rain to fall, that it be poured in showers quickly.
Thou rain, I adjure thee fall. If thou rainest, it is well.*

*If our women rejoice, if the children rejoice,
if the young men sing, if the aged rejoice, it is well.*

*A drizzling confusion, a torrent in flow.
If the rain and wind veer to the south, overflowing.
A torrent in flow, overflowing. May it fill.
An overflowing in the granary. May our grain fill the granaries.*

Support Our Singers & The Impact of Music

We are grateful to all of our supporters who help us to build a stronger community by giving a voice to children as they share their artistry and make central Indiana a better place.

The ICC was founded on the belief that all children have the potential to create incredible artistry. The ICC provides unique opportunities for excellence to be identified and cultivated. Singers come together in a safe and welcoming environment to learn about themselves and discover the world around them. Singers in the ICC become lifelong friends as they share the powerful experience of creating artistic excellence.

The ICC serves approximately 2,500 children and youth each year throughout central Indiana with choral ensembles and music education programs that change their lives in ways that extend beyond the Concert Season performances we all enjoy. Singers in the ICC increase their academic skills, deepen social awareness, and gain leadership skills while developing a love for music that will last a lifetime. Along the way, they learn to work as a team, discover the value of discipline, and find a place to belong that many of them call home.

These experiences and programs are possible because of the generous and sustained support of those who believe in the ICC's vision of enriching the lives of young people through the power of music. We know that lives are transformed when children are involved in high-quality music education. Your gift to the ICC enhances the choral experience for singers throughout central Indiana and gives each singer their own voice.

Your gift each year helps the ICC to serve the community through song. We are deeply grateful for your support!

The ICC brings singers together from across the community as they unite as one voice in song. We invite you to share our vision of a future where excellence in choral singing is valued and supported for all children in the community – bridging cultures, ethnicities, and economic backgrounds – a future where every singer finds their voice.

You can make your tax-deductible donation by visiting <https://icchoir.org/give/>. If you have questions or would like more information, please do not hesitate to call the ICC at 317-940-8072.

Thank you! We sincerely appreciate your commitment to enriching the lives of young people through artistic expression.
