Indianapolis Children's Choir to Perform Work by Grammy-Winning Contemporary Composer

March 1, 2023

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

INDIANAPOLIS - - On March 12, The Indianapolis Children's Choir (ICC) will perform The Drop That Contained the Sea by contemporary composer Christopher Tin, a two-time Grammy-winning composer. This unique work will welcome springtime in Indianapolis with the timely theme of one of the most powerful forces in the world – water. Songs in the choral work move through the many forms that water takes, from melting snow, to rain, rivers, the ocean, and then beginning again.

Christopher Tin was recently featured on CBS's Sunday Morning as he shared his work that led him to be a Grammy-winning composer. This year, he was nominated for Best Score Soundtrack, a brand-new award category for video game music. The ICC is excited to perform his original work!

"The Drop that Contained the Sea is a challenging and rewarding work that our singers have been rehearsing for months," shared Joshua Pedde, Artistic Director of the ICC. "As the piece works through the water cycle, singers will perform each piece in a different language and musical style – 10 in all. Singers are excited to present Drop to audiences at the prestigious Hilbert Circle Theatre."
